Join our Professional Learning Community (PLC), a partnership between the Center on Disability Studies, and the Office of Faculty Development. This PLC is centered on a professional development (PD) “camp” on inclusive practices for faculty, staff, and administrators. The CAMP+U 10-hour online, self-paced course aims to increase understanding, knowledge, and skill of accessible and inclusive course design, instructional delivery and assessment, and practices to create a sense of belonging for students with learning differences.

Requirements

- Three 1-hour synchronous facilitated sessions (optional)
- Completion of a five module online, self-paced course
- Surveys and other research tasks

Benefits

- Develop knowledge and skills to enhance your courses and better support students
- Access to a facilitated, meaningful online community
- A paperback copy of Academic Ableism by Jay T. Dolmage to those who complete the course

Registration Deadline: December 20, 2024
